

EXCEL UNIVERSITY

LEARN EXCEL. WORK FASTER.

How Excel University Benefits Employees

Excel University offers a subscription service where students get access to our undergrad and masters courses as well as live weekly office hours with the instructor, Microsoft Certified Trainer and Microsoft MVP Jeff Lenning, CPA. Excel is a big place and we focus on helping people learn how to use specific Excel skills to work faster, especially for people working on accounting and finance projects.

Since we only teach Excel, our training is comprehensive and organized to introduce topics in an optimal order:

1. The Speed Loop: a structured process that optimizes recurring-use workbooks for efficiency and accuracy.
2. Core skills: In our undergrad lessons, students learn the core Excel skills. It's not about learning all of Excel, it's about concentrating on the relevant features the student will use over and over and understanding how they work together.
3. Automation: In our masters lessons, students learn how to automate their workbooks using Power Query, Power Pivot, and Macros.

In addition to on-demand lecture videos, our Campus Pass includes weekly live office hours over Zoom. Students are invited to attend and ask any Excel questions, including questions about their workbooks and projects.

Excel University students are able to quickly apply the skills they learn to their actual work to save time. Our training has helped our students eliminate 100,000+ hours of tedious manual tasks, and we can help your student as well. Here are some examples from our students:

- Bob Spradley's task used to take 4 hours--now it takes 5 minutes
- Melissa Clay's report took 6 hours--now it takes 30 minutes
- Cathy Smith's crunch time took days--now it takes minutes
- Lee Ann Webster saved 3 hours a month on one project
- Luis Vivas saved hours by learning to use a single function
- Bobby Krupp saves 2 to 3 hours daily
- Maia Pavlova was able to cut hours and days from monthly reports
- Marilyn Gwodz was self-taught, but she learned faster ways in the first two lessons
